A Chara,

I am directed by the Referee to inquire whether you could furnish him with a list of members of the various Companies of the 2nd Battalion, Dublin Brigade, Irish Volunteers, who took part in the Easter Rising of 1916, indicating in each case the respective area in which they fought.

In case you are unable to furnish this information, perhaps you could state the names and present addresses of some of the officers of each Company who could supply such information.

Mise, le meas,

This company was mainly recruited from Grocers' Assistants and Night Workers. As these men generally were only in Dublin for a limited period it is almost impossible to compile the 1916 list. The deaths in action of Captain Patrick Moran & Lieut. Martin Savage, who were the organisers of the Company render it still more difficult.

at Cade -

I now enclose list of men of the Coy. of this Battalion who fought in Easter Week 1916. The list is ^{near to} as complete in all its details as we can hope to get it.

It is exceedingly difficult to obtain complete lists from the Companies but I hope to be able to obtain them from B, D and F Companies within the next few days.

I cannot obtain any particulars from C. Coy but Mr Thomas Burke, 12 St Brendan's Rd., Doonemondra who was Captain of the Company on both of the critical dates should be able to supply the information to you. Mr Lammour Price was Captain in 1916 and Mr Sean Colbert at a later date and ^{both} should be able to help. I do not know their addresses, but I imagine that information

~~with~~ it is in your possession:

In 1916 there was a small company - G company - of which the late Richard McKee was Captain. The members who continued after 1916 mostly went to E. Company at the reorganisation. Mr Richard Stokes of St. Patrick's Factory, Skerries, Co. Dublin would be the most likely person to be able to supply the 1916 list.

Yours sincerely
