A Chara,

Mr. Michael O'Connor, of Main Street, Kenmare, Co. Kerry, has been in communication with me with regard to compensation for the murder of his sons by Irregulars about a year and a half ago. One son was a Brigadier in the National Army and the other a Captain. The one who was the Captain was the mainstay of the business at home, and for that reason I should be glad if the question of making compensation were given favourable consideration.

Mise, le meas,

A Dhuine Uasail,

I am directed by the Compensation (Personal Injuries) Committee to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 14th instant, relative to the claim of Mr. Michael O'Connor of Main Street, Kenmare, County Kerry, for compensation in respect of the murder of his sons who were officers in the National Army, by Irregulars; and, in reply, I am to inform you that cases eligible for any award under the provisions of the Army Pensions Act, 1923, do not come within the scope of the Committee and cannot be dealt with by them.

Mr. O'Connor's application should be addressed to the Army Pensions Board.

Mise, le meas,

The Minister for Fisheries,
Ministry of Fisheries,
Dublin.

Runaidhe.
